Pluvicto to carry Ga-68 momentum; will Lu-177 follow?

Last week, Novartis received the nod from the FDA, opening up its Lu-177-based radioligand therapy Pluvicto to a much broader prostate cancer population. Specifically, Pluvicto is now cleared to treat PSMA-positive metastatic castration-resistant prostate cancer (mCRPC) before taxane-based chemotherapy, effectively tripling its eligible patient population.

Pluvicto has been approved by the FDA in 2022 in the post-chemo setting and annualizing $ 1.5bn sales based on the most recent quarter. This milestone is seen to pave the way for > $ 5bn in peak sales for Pluvicto.

As a leading supplier of medical-grade Ga-68 generators – and with recently expanded production capacity (timely, perhaps not coincidentally) – EUZ is well-positioned to benefit from the growing momentum behind Pluvicto. It is important to note that before receiving Pluvicto, patients must undergo a PET scan using either F-18 or Ga-68 tracers. With the FDA's recent approval significantly expanding the eligible patient population, demand for Ga-68 is expected to rise sharply, driving greater utilization of the existing generator installed base and creating strong tailwinds for additional placements.

An additional – even if less visible – optionality for EUZ lies in the potential to supply Novartis with Lu-177, the therapeutic isotope used in Pluvicto. Having cleared the necessary regulatory and technical hurdles, EUZ is now capable of producing Lu-177 at commercial scale. While current Lu-177 sales remain modest – primarily supporting clinical trials – this capability positions EUZ to capture meaningful upside as demand accelerates with broader adoption of radioligand therapies.

A word on the final Q4: The final numbers met prelims and the issued 2025E guidance for € 320m sales and € 78m adj EBIT is in line with expectations. The expected sales growth should be driven by Medical (+11% yoy) and to a lesser extent by IP (+5% yoy). Telix's-related milestones are to benefit EBIT by c. € 10m in 2025E and c. € 5m in 2026E. (eHAIB). BUY, € 66 PT based on DCF.

Company in a Nutshell

Eckert & Ziegler is a leading supplier of isotopes technology into a wide range of industrial applications and, increasingly, to pharmaceutical companies that develop and manufacture targeted radiation therapies. This market is projected to grow from c. $ 7bn to $ 39bn by 2032E, strongly driven by Lu-177- and Ac-225-based therapies as well as Ga-68-based diagnostics. All of these hard-to-get isotopes fall under EUZ's expertise. In order to capitalize on these outstanding growth prospects, EUZ is executing a major CAPEX program, which should start to increasingly contribute higher sales and earnings

Upcoming Catalysts

- Market launch of Lilly/POINT's prostate cancer drug in 2025E where EUZ is a supplier of Lu-177
- Potential Lu-177 supply contract with Novartis
- Continuous onboarding of new customers for supply of medical isotopes and CMO services

Investment Case

- A well-established player in multiples attractive niches for the industrial application of isotopes, which is increasingly benefiting from a rapidly growing market for targeted radiopharmaceuticals.
- As a highly experienced supplier of isotope technology, EUZ's portfolio comprises the most sought-after medical isotopes (e.g. Ga-68, Y-90, Lu-177, Ac-225).
- Based on numerous drug launches over the next 5+ years, the market for targeted radiopharmaceuticals is seen to grow from $ 7bn to $ 39bn by 2032. In order to capitalize on this, EUZ has been strongly investing into the development and expansion of manufacturing and CMO capacities.
- The valuation of ~15x EV/adj EBIT'25E does not adequately account for the substantial long-term growth runway in the high-margin radiopharma vertical, in our view.
- Buy with a € 66.0 PT based on DCF.

4. Information Concerning the Methods of Valuation/Update

The determination of the fair value per share, i.e. the price target, and the resultant rating is done on the basis of the adjusted free cash flow (adj. FCF) method and on the basis of the discounted cash flow – DCF model. Furthermore, a peer group comparison is made.

The adj. FCF method is based on the assumption that investors purchase assets only at a price (enterprise value) at which the operating cash flow return after taxes on this investment exceeds their opportunity costs in the form of a hurdle rate of 7.5%. The operating cash flow is calculated as EBITDA less maintenance capex and taxes.

Within the framework of the DCF approach, the future free cash flows are calculated initially on the basis of a fictitious capital structure of 100% equity, i.e. interest and repayments on debt capital are not factored in initially. The adjustment towards the actual capital structure is done by discounting the calculated free cash flows with the weighted average cost of capital (WACC), which takes into account both the cost of equity capital and the cost of debt. After discounting, the calculated total enterprise value is reduced by the interest-bearing debt capital in order to arrive at the equity value.

Hauck Aufhäuser Lampe Privatbank AG uses the following three-step rating system for the analysed companies:

Buy: Sustainable upside potential of more than 10% within 12 months

Sell: Sustainable downside potential of more than 10% within 12 months.

Hold: Upside/downside potential is limited. No immediate catalyst visible.

NB: The ratings of Hauck Aufhäuser Lampe Privatbank AG are not based on a performance that is expected to be "relative" to the market.

The decision on the choice of the financial instruments analysed in this document was solely made by Hauck Aufhäuser Lampe Privatbank AG. The opinions and estimates in this research report are subject to change without notice. It is within the discretion of Hauck Aufhäuser Lampe Privatbank AG whether and when it publishes an update to this research report, but in general updates are created on a regular basis, after 6 months at the latest.
